

National Landcare Awards and Conference marks Victorian milestone

Hundreds of Landcarers converge on Melbourne as Landcare in Victoria celebrates 30 years

23 September: Close to 600 Landcarers from across the country converged on Melbourne this week for the biennial National Landcare Awards and Conference, as Victoria, the birthplace of Landcare, celebrates 30 years of the community movement.

Last night's gala Awards dinner saw 12 National Landcare Awards handed out, including the prestigious Bob Hawke Landcare Award, which went to Queensland farmer, Stephen Burgess, who runs a property combining sustainable agriculture, light grazing and a nature refuge.

Balingup's Southampton Homestead won the coveted People's Choice Award. The farm, run by Jeff Pow and Michelle McManus, came out on top among all 69 national finalists by receiving the most votes from the Australian public in an online poll in the lead-up to last night's award ceremony.

Jeff Pow was stunned to win this esteemed award. "When we started to farm this way, and do it from a values-based approach, on the first day we produced our first chickens we had an instant customer-base. People flocked to us, from social media, from word-of-mouth. That's the power of a community-based approach. We wanted to produce food in a way that did so much more for the environment and the people," Jeff said. "Humans have a role as creative agents to bring about change. That's our job in the ecosystem."

Assistant Minister to the Deputy Prime Minister, the Hon. Luke Hartsuyker MP, was on hand to present the Australian Government sponsored Awards, while Victorian Minister for Energy, Environment and Climate Change, the Hon. Lily D'Ambrosio MP, presented the Coastcare Award.

The National Landcare Conference kicked off on Wednesday with 11 field trips showcasing some of Victoria's best Landcare projects, including a visit to Main Ridge Dairy on the Mornington Peninsula, where 180 goats sit on 130 acres, and a visit to Kinglake to learn about fire recovery around the area.

Thursday saw ABC Gardening Australia's Costa Georgiadis take the stage as MC and ex-Governor General and National Soil Advocate, Major General the Hon. Michael Jeffery, addressing delegates with a speech entitled Save the Soil; Save the Planet, where he called for collective action on soil health, saying that "the declining health of our soil should be seen as a responsibility for the whole population."

Landcare Australia CEO, Tessa Jakszewicz, was delighted to see Melbourne host the event as Victoria celebrates such a significant milestone.

"It's very fitting to be celebrating Landcare at a national level in Melbourne during such a significant year for Victorian Landcare. National Landcare Conferences and Awards provide great opportunities for Landcarers from across the country to share knowledge and learn from each other's experiences, and what better place to do it than the birthplace of

This project is supported by Landcare Australia, through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Programme and the Victorian Government.

Landcare,” she said.

All finalist case studies and photos by category are available at nationallandcareconference.org.au/awards.

The full list of all the winners of the 2016 National Landcare Awards and highlights are on the next page.

The National Landcare Awards are being delivered by Landcare Australia in partnership with the Australian Government’s National Landcare Program and the Victorian Government, and are sponsored by Fairfax Media, Indigenous Land Corporation, and ManpowerGroup Australia.

– ENDS –

For more information, please contact:

Trish O’Gorman
 Communications Manager
 Landcare Australia
 Tel: 02 8440 8809/0405 677 251
 Email: trish.ogorman@landcareaustralia.com.au

About Landcare Australia

Landcare Australia is a not-for-profit organisation with a vision of all Australians actively caring for the land and water that sustain us. For over 25 years, Landcare Australia has worked collaboratively with federal, state and local governments, corporate partners and sponsors, and individuals, to build capacity for the Landcare community to better manage Australia’s crucial land and water assets.

Landcare Australia delivers hundreds of projects annually through the volunteer efforts of local community groups, indigenous groups, and the more than 5,400 Landcare and Coastcare groups that make up the Landcare movement.

www.landcareaustralia.org.au

Australian Government Individual Landcarer Award	Rhonda Williams, WA	Rhonda Williams sees Landcare and sustainable agriculture as being key to long term profitability and has hosted 20 field days and 30 trials on her farms.
Australian Government Innovation in Sustainable Farm Practices Award	Southampton Homestead WA	Jeff Pow and Michelle McManus are part of a leading trend in farming, taking responsibility for the growing and the processing of all food on their farm Southampton Homestead, selling their produce directly to the community.
Australian Government Landcare Facilitator or Coordinator Award	Jill Richardson, WA	Jill Richardson has spent 25 years dedicated to furthering Landcare in WA, leading significant on-ground environmental works and behavioural change in sustainable agriculture and biodiversity conservation.
Australian Government Partnerships with Landcare Award	Lake Macquarie Landcare NSW	Lake Macquarie Landcare is a community-based organisation built on the successful working partnership between passionate, dedicated and hardworking local volunteers and the Lake Macquarie City Council. It is the largest network of Landcare groups in NSW.
Coastcare Award	Coolum and District Coastcare, QLD	Since 2001, Coolum District Coast Care Inc has consistently worked hard to galvanise energy and public interest in caring for the coastal environment on the Maroochy north shore of the Sunshine Coast

This project is supported by Landcare Australia, through funding from the Australian Government’s National Landcare Programme and the Victorian Government.

Fairfax Media Landcare Community Group Award	Blackwood Basin Group WA	and beyond. The Blackwood Basin Group has been coordinating community-managed Landcare projects across the Blackwood Catchment for over two decades; working with 54 catchment groups, assisting over 500 farming families and delivering more than $16million of Landcare activities throughout the iconic river basin.
Indigenous Land Management Award	Crocodile Islands Rangers NT	The Rangers have received a wide range of land and sea management training, and they combine these new skills and knowledge with their traditional Indigenous Ecological Knowledge, to manage and protect their unique area.
Junior Landcare Team Award	Wirraminna Environmental Education Centre, NSW	The Wirraminna Environmental Education Centre – Creative Catchment Kids program has grown over the past five years to include 60 Murray and Riverina schools. Its mission is to engage the region’s students and schools to develop more resilient landscapes and communities through a change in attitude toward natural resource management.
Manpower Young Landcare Leader Award	(tie) Naomi Edwards, QLD and Ella Maesepp, WA	Naomi Edwards is an instigator of progressive change when it comes to addressing environmental issues and is passionate about intergenerational engagement in Landcare. Ella Maesepp has worked as a Landcare Officer in the Upper Blackwood area for 12 years, delivering millions of dollars’ worth of projects to protect biodiversity, manage salinity, increase agricultural sustainability and reduce individual carbon footprints.
People’s Choice Award Bob Hawke Landcare Award	Stephen Burgess, QLD	Stephen Burgess has run Wurraglen Nature Refuge in Dagon, Queensland for nearly 20 years, developing the property which combines sustainable market farming and light grazing. Stephen’s blend of biological and organic farming principles combined with holistic management practices demonstrate every aspect of the Landcare ethic.

This project is supported by Landcare Australia, through funding from the Australian Government’s National Landcare Programme and the Victorian Government.

